

Drivers who think Canadian drivers are over-reliant on vehicle safety technologies

Drivers who think there should be more education on how to use new safety features in vehicles

Canadians, drivers or not, who feel advanced safety technology can contribute to distraction among drivers

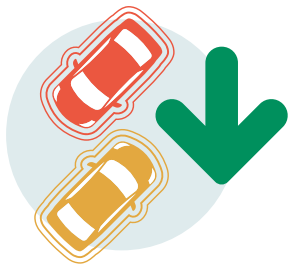

Drivers who feel vehicle safety features are needed to keep our roads safer

Drivers who think vehicle safety technologies pose a risk to road safety

Drivers who believe vehicle safety features help reduce the number of collisions

52%